Root & Cady
(1867)

Henry Clay Work (1832-1884) was born in Middletown, Connecticut, and was self-taught in music. He apprenticed as a printer in Hartford and worked as a printer with Root & Cady in Chicago, specializing in setting musical type, and worked for their periodical "Song Messenger of the Northwest." He later worked as a musician in New York City. He died in Hartford. He was a successful song writer during and after the war. His most well known songs are those related to the Civil War, but he also wrote many others and he enjoyed writing lyrics in various dialects. Some of his most popular songs were "Brave Boys Are They!" (1861), "Kingdom Coming!" (1862), "Grafted into the Army" (1862), "Little Major" (1862), "Babylon Is Fallen!" (1863), "Come Home, Father!" (1864), "Marching Through Georgia" (1865) and "Grandfather's Clock" (1876). He was inducted into the Songwriters Hall of Fame in 1970.

High in the belfry the old sexton stands,
Grasping the rope with his thorn bony hands:
Fixed is his gaze, as by some magic spell,
Till he hears the distant murmur, Ring, ring the bell.

*“Ring the bell, watchman! ring! ring! ring!
Yes, yes, the good news is now on the wing;
Yes, yes! they come, and with tidings to tell—
Glorious and blessed tidings— Ring, ring the bell!”*

Baring his long silver locks to the breeze,
First for a moment he drops on his knees,
Then with a vigor that few could excel,
Answers he the welcome bidding, Ring, ring the bell.

Hear! from the hilltop the first signal gun
Thunders the word that some great deed is done;
Hear! thro’ the valley the long echoes swell,
Ever and anon repeating, Ring, ring the bell.

Bonfires are blazing and rockets ascend—
No meager triumph such tokens portend;
Shout, shout! my brothers, for “all, all is well!”
'Tis the universal chorus, Ring, ring the bell.
